Operating Geography: United States, North America, Global

About the Company:

Genuine Parts Company (GPC) is an American service company that dispenses automotive and industrial replacement parts, office products, and electrical and electronic materials. GPC has over 2,600 locations around the world that serve a wide range of customers. It is the parent company of the NAPA Auto Parts brand. It is headquartered in Atlanta, Georgia, U.S. In 1925, Carlyle Fraser purchased Motor Parts Depot in Atlanta, Georgia, and formed GPC and later it was renamed Genuine Parts Company. Other than body parts, the Automotive division supplies replacement parts for virtually all makes and models of automobiles, trucks, and other vehicles. The industrial division provides industrial bearings, mechanical and fluid power transmission devices, including hydraulic and pneumatic products, material handling components, and related parts and supplies. The Office Products division sells a wide range of office supplies, computer hardware, office furniture, and business equipment. The Electrical/Electronic Materials division sells a wide range of electrical/electronic materials, such as insulating and conductive materials, for use in electronic and electrical equipment. As of February 2021, the company is ranked 171 on the Fortune 500 list.

Genuine Parts Company's Unique Selling Point or USP lies in it being specializing in replacement parts for automobiles and a variety of other industrial devices. It is regarded as one of Mexico's leading automotive aftermarket organisations. The company's mission statement reads, "At Genuine Parts Company, we strive to be the employer of choice for each of our associates, the supplier of choice for all of our customers, a valued and preferred customer to each of our suppliers, a respected community member, and an investment of choice for all of our shareholders".
