Company Name : Stadler Rail

Company Sector : Locomotive Manufacturing

Operating Geography : Switzerland, Europe, Global

About the Company :

A Swiss manufacturer of railway rolling stock, with a prominence on regional train multiple units and trams, Stadler Rail was founded in 1942 by Ernst Stadler. The firm also focuses on niche products, such as one of the last European manufacturers of rack railway rolling stock. Stadler Rail is founded and based in Bussnang, Switzerland. It is a holding company and consists of nine subsidiaries having locations in Spain, Algeria, Germany, Poland, Italy, the Netherlands, Austria, Switzerland, Belarus, Czech Republic, Hungary and the United States, and planned Indonesia by INKA. The company started manufacturing its first locomotives, building both battery-electric and diesel types, in 1945. Through the majority of the firm's existence, it operated as a relatively small family-owned business which was entirely based in Switzerland. It primarily focused on producing high customised rail vehicles for its clients. Stadler constructs trains which are customised to meet the needs of customers. The company strives for improving the efficiency of its trains using state-of-the-art technologies. Its product portfolio includes modular vehicle concepts, tailor-made vehicles and a full range of services. The company has its employees at seven production and five component locations as well as various service workshop. On 21st January, 2021 the first city link tram-train successfully arrived in Hungary.

The Unique Selling Proposition or USP of Stadler Rail lies in it being one of the largest producer of rail vehicles which offers tailor-made vehicles while being environmentally friendly.
