Company Name : Peabody Energy

Company Sector : Mining and Minerals

Operating Geography : United States, North America, Global

About the Company : Peabody Energy is a private coal corporation headquartered in St. Louis, Missouri. Its principal activity is the mining, selling, and distribution of coal, which is used in the production of power and steel. Peabody also markets, brokers, and trades coal from offices in China, Australia, the United Kingdom, and the United States. It has dominant ownership in 23 surface and underground mining operations in the United States and Australia. Francis Peabody, the son of a famous Chicago lawyer, and a partner created Peabody, Daniels & Company in 1883 and later in the 1880s he purchased his partner's share of the business and the corporation was incorporated in the state of Illinois in 1890 under the name Peabody Coal Company. It also offers transportation-related services, such as economic hedging to support its coal trading strategy and cash flow hedging to assist its mining operations. Peabody has ~$23 million of the 2022 bonds with a stated maturity date tagged for end of first quarter 2022. The coal conglomerate has sufficient financial liquidity to handle this upcoming maturity.

Peabody's USP is that it is the world's largest private-sector coal firm and a premier coal producer, delivering key products to power emerging and developed countries' baseload electricity and generate the steel needed to build foundational infrastructure. The mission statement of Peabody reads, "Our mission is to help people make the most of their lives. Peabody draws on over 150 years of history and expertise."
