Company Name : IDEX Corporation

Company Sector : Engineering, Fluid & Metering, Health & Science, Fire & Safety/Diversified products

Operating Geography : United States, North America, Global

About the Company :

The Northbrook, Illinois-based IDEX Corporation is a publicly traded business that develops, designs, and produces fluidics systems, optical systems, fire and rescue equipment, and other specially designed goods. "Innovation, Diversity, and Excellence" are spelled out in the company's name as an acronym. In 1988, IDEX was established after Kohlberg Kravis Roberts acquired several Houdaille Industries businesses. The company is divided into three segments: Fluid & Metering Technologies (FMT), Health & Science Technologies (HST), and Fire & Safety/Diversified Products (FSDP). Positive displacement pumps, valves, small-volume provers, flow meters, injectors, and other fluid-handling pump modules and systems are all designed, manufactured, and distributed by the FMT segment. It also provides other services, such as flow monitoring. The HST section develops, manufactures, and sells a variety of precision fluidics, centrifugal, positive displacement, and rotary lobe pumps, roll compaction and drying systems, pneumatic components, and sealing solutions. For the fire and rescue industry, the FSDP section develops, manufactures, and sells firefighting pumps, valves, controls, rescue tools, lifting bags, and other parts and systems. In September 2022, IDEX disclosed that it has signed a binding contract to buy Muon B.V., a manufacturer of micro-precision technology, and its subsidiary companies.

IDEX Corporation's unique selling point is that it employs 8,000 people, has production facilities in more than 20 countries, and is a high-performing, international corporation dedicated to creating reliable solutions that enhance people's lives. The mission statement of IDEX Corporation reads, "We are relentlessly committed to fostering a culture of integrity and performance across our operations, and are firmly rooted in our values of trust, team, and excellence. We invest heavily in leadership development and hire people who also look at the world through a different lens".
