Company Name : Full Truck Alliance

Company Sector : Cargo Ground Transportation

Operating Geography : China, Asia

About the Company :

Full Truck Alliance, also known as Manbang Group or Yunmanman, is a leading digital freight platform based in China. It was founded in 2017 through the merger of two major truck-hailing platforms, Yunmanman and Huochebang, to create a comprehensive online logistics ecosystem. Full Truck Alliance operates a mobile application that connects shippers and truck drivers, offering a range of freight matching and logistics services. The platform enables shippers to easily find available trucks for their cargo transportation needs and allows truck drivers to find loads and optimize their routes efficiently. The company utilizes advanced technologies such as artificial intelligence, big data analytics, and GPS tracking to provide real-time monitoring, intelligent matching, and smart logistics solutions. By leveraging these technologies, Full Truck Alliance aims to improve the efficiency and transparency of the trucking industry in China. The FTA platform, or Full Truck Alliance, is a leading digital freight platform in China. By the end of 2022, 3.52 million truckers had completed shipping orders on the FTA platform, with an average of 1.88 million shippers posting shipping orders there each month. In 2023, it operates in 300+ cities through 100k+ routes.

Full Truck Alliance's Unique Selling Proposition (USP) lies in its ability to seamlessly connect shippers and truckers through its comprehensive digital freight platform, offering efficient and reliable logistics solutions. Its mission statement is "To empower the logistics industry with digital technology, enhancing efficiency and driving sustainable growth." And vision statement is "To become the leading digital freight platform globally, connecting and transforming the logistics ecosystem."
