Company Name : BAE Systems

Company Sector : Defense & Aerospace

Operating Geography : UK, Europe, Global

About the Company :

BAE Systems operates and develops advanced defense and aerospace systems internationally. Headquartered in London and Farnborough, UK, the Group engages in the provision of surface ships, submarines, radar, military aircraft, avionics, communications, electronics, and controlled weapon systems. The company employs a highly skilled workforce of over 85,000 people as of 2020 in more than 40 countries and their economic development is closely integrated by the transfer of wisdom, skills and technology. It was formed in 1999 after the fusion of British Aerospace PLC (BAe) with Marconi Electronic Systems. As a result, BAE Systems is the successor to various popular British aircraft, defense electronics and warship manufacturers. The company is diligently taking strides towards sustainability since 2001—according to their annual report, they are actively contributing towards the UN Sustainable Development Goals and are increasing stringency of environmental legislation. This British multinational defense, security, and aerospace company’s businesses span everything from electronic warfare systems to intelligence gathering to armored vehicles.

BAE Systems’ unique selling proposition or USP lies in being the largest defence contractor in Europe and one of the largest defense companies in the world. BAE Systems’ mission statement reads, “To provide a vital advantage to help our customers protect what really matters.” BAE Systems’ vision statement reads, “To be the premier international defence, aerospace and security company.”
